CASHIER SLEPT IN TOMBS LAST NIGHT.

Unable to Obtain Pail in $25,000-Arrest Came About, hrough Persistence of Detectives in Trailing the Cashier's Wife-Wider Almost Collapsed at Sight of the Tombs Steel Ears-Will Be Arraigned Monday.

New York July 29.—A frail little man with hollow cheeks and grey eyes in whose manner and presence there was nothing to suggest that single-handed he had coolly lifted $500,000 in bonds and stocks from the strong box of a bank, was arrested this afternoon in a downtown restaurant, not five minutes' walk from the bank he had robbed. He was Erwin Wider, the cashier of the Russo-Chinese bank.

Yer, was also his neighbor, and thence she was traced today to the restaurant where her own husband was arrested. Wider himself was pitifully shaken and broken. His lawyer said he was a sick man and he looked it. As he was led into the Tombs he recoiled at the sight of the steel bars and almost collapsed.

Committed to the Tombs.

In the court of general sessions his lawyer Leon Ginsberg, said that he would plead guilty and he was com-mitted to the Tombs in default of $25,000 ball. $25,000 ball.

Ginsberg pleaded with Judge Warren Foster for a lower amount. The sum asked, he said, was prohibitive, whereas $10,000 might be obtained. "And I want to add," he hastened to interpose, that none of this money is in my client's possession. It was all of it swallowed up in Wall street speculation."

lation."
"But it was stolen, just the same, wasn't it?" interrupted the judge.
"That is true," admitted Ginsberg.
"I do not see, then, that there is any need of bail," commented the district attorney. "This entire case can be ended once and for all in a couple of days."

Grand Jury Indictment Handed Up. Grand Jury Indictment Handed Up.
Almost as Wider was arrested, the grand jury handed up an indictment against him, charging specifically that he stole three certificates, one of fifty shares and two others of twenty-five shares each of Baltimore & Ohio stock and that he disposed of them through the brokerage house of Dick Brothers on May 22 last. These particulars indicate that the process of theft was not a sudden one, but that it had been going on for weeks and possibly for months before it was discovered.

Detectives Trailed Wider's Wife.

The arrest today was due to the persistence with which detectives trailed Wider's wife. She was in consultation last night with Mrs. Ginsberg, whose husband, besides being Wider's law-

Ginsberg's statement today that all the sum stolen had been eaten up in speculation would seem to indicate that the bank will never recover a dollar. It has been said heretofore that suits would be filed against the brokers with whom Wider dealt, but no such suits have yet been instituted. He will be arraigned for pleading next Monday.

Wider Makes a Statement.

In his cell in the Tombs Wider made tonight the following statement:

"I never thought of the probable consequences of my act. I never thought of anything except that I had an opportunity in Wall street to make money, and it seems so safe, too. My pay at the bank was so small I could not live and keep my family in the way I saw friends keep theirs. (Wider's pay is said to have been $1.200 a year). I kept thinking about the way in which money was made in the stock market. I heard how easy it was and that anyone could get in there and speculate. The risk, I was told, was nothing.

"I talked the situation over carefully with men who told me they knew all about stocks and speculation. Then I decided to take a chance.

"But I never had a chance. It was always, always, messages from the brokers for 'More margins, more margins.' They seemed insatiable. Not, however, until I was in so deep that I could not see the way out, did I get reckless. At least I did not think I was reckless at the beginning, but I realize it now.

Connecticut.

Hartford, Conn., July 20, 1910.

Dear Sir:

The State Business Men's association hopes that the next general assembly will enact an efficient public utilities bill. It believes that legislation of this character is essential to the maintenance of the people's rights. It remembers that at the last state election the platform of the democratic party contained a clause favoring such an act, and that many democratic nembers of the last general assembly were actively interested in the matter. In view of these facts, the State Business Man's association believes that the democratic platform should contain a provision favoring such legislation. It accordingly requests that you will use your best endeavors to obtain the adoption of the following resolution, or one of like effect, at the next democratic caucus in your town for the appointment of delegates to the democratic state convention for nomination to the democratic state ticket:

"Resolved, That the delegates to the

"Resolved, That the delegates to the state convention for nomination of candidates for office on the democratic state ticket are hereby requested to endeavor to procure the insertion in the democratic platform of a provision favoring the creation of a commission with adequate powers for the efficient regulation and supervision of all classes of public service corporations."

The State Business Men's association also requests you to use your best endeavors to obtain the adoption of the following resolution at the next democratic caucus to be held in your town for the nomination of candidates for the next general assembly:

A CONFESSED FORGER. INDIFFERENT TO HIS FATE Gave Out His History at New York Police Headquarters.

New York, July 22.—A confessed forger, his ambitions as a playwright crushed, his romance blighted, and indifferent to what may befall him, Julius Frankenburg gave his history tonight at headquarters, still wearing a medal which he said the German emperor had pinned on him for conspicuous bravery in the Hottentot war.

"I surrendered to the Boston police." he said, "and they notified New York. Yes, I am a soldler and I have fought in more than one war. When I was with the Bosrs, Lord Roberts, commander in chief of the British forces, had piacards posted in every British camp, reading, "Capture at all costs, dead or alive the little German scout on the big white horse." It would have been better if they had killed me."

Frankenberg says that he eloped to Boston with a New York girl until the girl's mother, after bringing her daughter home, swore out a warrant charging him with obtaining $200 from her with which to stage a play by showing her forged bookings with a theatrical agency.

Lakev.ile, Conn., July 22.—While attemption to rescue his two children from drowning. Samuel C. Miner, a we'l to do farmer of this place, lost his own life. The two children were in bathing in a brook in the rear of their hone and stepped into a whirlneo'. Their cries for help attracted their father's, attention and running to the brook he jumped in and immediately sank. A son who was closely following his father rescued the two children and then pulled his father from the water, but the latter was dead, having been overcome by heart disease brought on by his sudden contact with the cold water of the brook. Miner was 40 years old and leaves his wife and four children.

NEW WAGE SCALE SIGNED. Pennsylvania Road Adjusts All Differences With Its Men.

Pittsburg, July 29,—"All differences between the Pennsylvania Railroad company and its men on lines west of Pittsburg have been satisfactorily adjusted." This statement was made by General Manager G. L. Peck of the lines west, tonight, following the concluding conference today of nearly three weeks' negotiations. A new wage scale was signed which covers the technicalities in working conditions of which the men complained. The basis of adjustment is practically the same as the New York Central award, with wages slightly higher, according to G. H. Sines, vice president of the Order of Railway Trainmen.

Boston, July 29.—The petition of several milk contractors of Roston, that the Roston and Maine railroad shall not put into effect its new rates for the transportation of milk on and after August 1, was today dismissed by the board of railroad commissioners. The contractors had asked that the present so-called carload rates be continued.
